This fault scarp formed in December 1954 during a magnitude 7.2 earthquake. Dixie Valley (right side) dropped 6 feet, responding to slow westward movement of the Stillwater Range (left). The fault separated this cabin from its outhouse.

(Photos by Karl V. Steinbrekke)